CANAL+ RENEWS ITS AGREEMENT FOR THE DISTRIBUTION OF EUROSPORT CHANNELS IN FRANCE AND SWITZERLAND

CANAL+ is delighted to announce the renewal of its agreement to distribute Eurosport channels for its subscribers in France and Switzerland. Thanks to this partnership, CANAL+ subscribers will continue to have access to the Eurosport 1 and Eurosport 2 channels. As such, they will be able to follow major international competitions, including the Australian Open, the US Open and the entire ATP Tour season, cycling's Grand Tours, the World ski Championship, EHF Champions League handball and all the buildup to the Olympic Winter Games back in Europe in just over one year's time with Milan - Cortina in 2026.

What's more, CANAL+ subscribers in mainland France will soon be able to access all the content of Max sports option as well, to enjoy the most comprehensive sports package.

This renewal is part of the strategic partnership established between CANAL+ and its historic partner Warner Bros. Discovery, following:

- The signing in January 2024 of an exclusive multi-year agreement with Warner Bros. Discovery, allowing CANAL+ to be the only subscription service in France able to broadcast Warner Bros. Pictures films just six months after their cinema release in France;
- The conclusion of a distribution agreement allowing the integration of Max, the streaming service of Warner Bros. Discovery, into CANAL+ offers in France since 11 June 2024.

The partnership between CANAL+ and Warner Bros. Discovery is also being strengthened in terms of the distribution of themed channels, with the upcoming arrival of Boomerang, Cartoon

Network and Cartoonito within CANAL+ offerings in France, as well as the Boomerang, Cartoonito, Cartoon Network, TLC and Discovery Channel within CANAL+ offerings in Africa.
